

project „Famous women of the world”, Vangažu vidusskola, 2019.

I think being famous is pretty hard. You have to face haters, people trying to get to you not minding persons private space. Its good in a way that you can support your wishes and your kids, parents, friends. So its a 50/50 game, you have to pretend a lot. /Hermanis Krallišs/

I think when ben a popular is hard, because their lives have limits that don't break much. There's a person on every step who wants to lead false news and damage the life of that person. Even if they want a go to some shop, a ther are some fan who wants to make photo-graph with him (self-portrait).And a more difficult and difficult life for them. /Jēkabs Pūris/

Being popular definitely is not easy,because then you have much haters,people have envy and there are people who don't wish you good.There are different risks,for example someone can steal you if you don't have guards next to you or do something unpleasant for you.
You don't have much time,you are almost always busy, but there are good sides-you can be rich with your popularity. /Laura Kaimakane/

I agree with Hermanis, because I think that it is already hard being a woman because there are a lot of people that judge your looks on social media. With popularity comes a lot more haters so for famous person there is a lot more hate. On the good side you are able to inspire a lot of people to do something nice. It all depends on you. / Laura Grīnberga/

I think that i agree with Hermanis, and others because being famous and popular isn't that easy, because as they already said you need to face alot of negativity, and hate, no matter how popular they might be. Nowadays everybody would want to be popular, but they dont think about the fact that along with alot of people who will like you, there will be alot of people who hate you aswell. And you have to set boundries for yourself on what you can and can't do, because of all the media and stuff like that, and if you are popular, then you are probably a role model for some people too, so that they dont do the stuff you do wrong, you have to be careful with it./ Valts Vecmanis/

Being popular is not easy, I think we all can agree on that, but it's something, that you have chosen to do. When you agree on doing something, then ofcourse it will either benefit you or be bad for you. When you are famous, everything makes consequences, either you want it or no. Ofcourse it is much easier to spread awareness of something you are passionate or worried about, but it can cost you your personal life. /Renāte Meldere/

Being famous is hard, you would have to deal with a lot of stuff, that normal human being (not that the popular ones aren't normal) doesn't have to deal with. Also you would have no personal life and everywhere you go, you would have paparazzi stalking on you... /Līva Ozola/

Being popular is not hard, but it's not easy either. You are like an influencer and can say stuff, that somebody will listen to. Also, you don't (usually) have to worry about money problems, like most of regular people has. But on the other side, you would have no personal life and you couldn't say exactly everything you want, you would have to work with a lot of people, either you want it or no./Ērika Bukovska/